Geoengineer.org Conference
Sponsorship Program

The Geoengineer website is committed in supporting activities that contribute to the Geoengineering Profession. Conference organization is an important activity that stimulates research and improves practice locally and worldwide.

Examples of participating Conferences

Examples of conferences currently sponsored by the Geoengineer website:

12th International Conference of the International Association for Computer Methods and Advances in Geomechanics, 1-6 October 2008, Goa – India.

Sixth International Conference on Case histories in Geotechnical Engineering and symposium in honor of professor James K. Mitchell, 4-9 August 2008, Washington, DC.

BENEFITS

Conferences participating in the Conference Sponsorship program are supported in the following ways:

1. The Conference is listed as a "sponsored event" at the main page of Geoengineer.org during the most critical periods of the conference organization.
2. Conference announcements (e.g. call for abstracts, conference program, early-bird registration etc.) are listed in the Geoengineer Newsletter.
3. The event is listed under the "conference spotlight" box in the events page of Geoengineer.org.
4. The event is promoted through special listing and continuous announcements in the Geoengineering News forum.
5. Information on the exhibition conference rates can be forwarded to our Corporate Sponsors who may be interested sponsoring the conference or reserve a spot in the exhibition. Typically we ask for a 20-30% reduction in the nominal rates as a special offer to our Corporate Sponsors.
6. The conference proceedings are promoted through the "New Geoengineering Publications" section of Geoengineer.org.
7. Selected papers of the conference may be invited for submission in an expanded form in the "International Journal of Geoengineering Case Histories".

AVAILABLE OPTIONS

Two alternative options are available:

Option #1: Promotion at no cost

Participating conferences enjoy the benefits at no financial cost. However, we request that:

1. The Geoengineer website is acknowledged as sponsoring organization in the documents, websites etc. that other sponsoring organizations will be listed.
2. We receive two copies of the documents distributed at the conference, i.e. program, proceedings etc. These copies will be distributed to the visitors of our website as gifts to those who participate in our surveys and inquiries.
3. We request to have a leaflet with information on the Geoengineer website distributed along with the material provided to the conference participants.
4. We request to have one no cost participation and a spot in the exhibition room for our representative. Alternatively this spot, might be used as an award to colleagues participating in our activities.

Option #2: Paid Promotion

Promotion is alternatively available at an all-inclusive cost of $1500.
