Professional background

Professional background relevant to GEOSNet: Currently, I am an assistant professor in the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering at the National University of Singapore. Before that, I was a Royal Society Newton International Fellow in the Division of Civil Engineering at the University of Cambridge. I earned my PhD degree in the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering at the Hong Kong Polytechnic University, which included one year as a visiting scholar in the Geotechnical Group at the University of Oxford.

Main reasons for your interest in GEOSNet and potential contributions to the network: I am interested in GEOSNet because its mission—coordinating stakeholders, accelerating knowledge transfer, and embedding risk and uncertainty in practice—matches my research. GEOSNet is also a good platform to exchange knowledge and foster interdisciplinary collaboration in geotechnics. I attended the ISGSR2025 conference in Oslo, Norway and delivered a Bright Spark Lecture. I will actively get involved in more activities organised by GEOSNet and seek chances to contribute more to this community.
